3. Transfer of Copyright or Grant of Licence

Please tick ONE of the following options:

☐ Option A – Transfer of copyright. I/We, the undersigned author(s), hereby transfer and assign to the Publisher, Presidency University (School of Media Studies), Bengaluru, the publisher of [full journal name] (MSDR Journal; ISSN [to be added]) ("the Journal"), all rights, title and interest, including copyright, in the above-mentioned manuscript ("the Work"), in all forms and media, whether now known or developed in future. This assignment is for the full term of copyright, throughout the world, and shall not lapse for non-exercise of rights. It takes effect when the Work is accepted for publication.

Under Option A, this includes the exclusive right to reproduce, publish, distribute, translate, adapt, store, archive and communicate the Work to the public in print, electronic and online formats, including indexing in databases and repositories.

☐ Option B – Licence to publish (author retains copyright). I/We retain copyright in the Work and grant the Journal a worldwide, royalty-free licence, for the full term of copyright, to publish, reproduce, distribute, archive and communicate the Work in all forms and media, including indexing in databases and repositories. I/We agree that the published Work will be made available under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International licence (CC BY-NC 4.0), with the Journal acknowledged as the original place of publication.

Sections 4 to 7 apply under both options.

4. Rights Retained by the Author(s)

The author(s) retain the following rights:

1. Patent and trademark rights, and rights to any process, procedure or article described in the Work.
2. The right to use the Work, in whole or in part, in their own teaching, lectures, presentations and future research, with due acknowledgement of the Journal as the original source.
3. The right to include the Work in a thesis or dissertation, with due acknowledgement of the Journal.
4. The right to share the final published version on a personal or institutional webpage or repository, with a full citation and a link to the Journal.
5. The right to make copies of the Work for non-commercial academic use.
6. Moral rights, including the right to be identified as the author(s) of the Work and to object to any distortion or modification that would harm their honour or reputation. Nothing in this agreement affects these rights.
7. The right to post the submitted manuscript on a recognised preprint server, and the accepted manuscript on a personal, institutional or funder repository, with a link to the published version on the Journal's website.
8. The right to reuse figures, tables and other parts of the Work in their own later works, with due acknowledgement of the Journal.

Any other reuse, including commercial use, requires the written permission of the Journal. Under Option B, reuse by others is governed by the CC BY-NC 4.0 licence.

5. Author Declarations and Warranties

I/We declare and warrant that:

1. The Work is original and is my/our own creation, and all authors listed have made a substantial contribution to it. Authorship meets recognised criteria (such as those of the ICMJE), no person who qualifies as an author has been left out, and no change to the list or order of authors will be made after submission without the written consent of all authors.
2. The Work has not been published earlier in any form (other than a preprint, thesis, dissertation or conference abstract disclosed to the Editor), is not under consideration for publication elsewhere, and will not be submitted elsewhere while under review by the Journal.

3. The Work does not infringe the copyright, privacy, or any other right of any person or organisation, and does not contain any unlawful, defamatory or plagiarised material.
4. Written permission has been obtained for all third-party material used in the Work (such as figures, tables, images, screenshots, long quotations or questionnaires), and the sources are clearly acknowledged.
5. The research was carried out ethically. Where human participants were involved, informed consent was obtained and, where applicable, ethics approval was received.
6. The data and results reported are genuine and have not been fabricated, falsified or manipulated (including images), and the underlying data are available as stated in the data availability statement or on reasonable request.
7. All sources of funding and any conflicts of interest have been disclosed to the Editor.
8. The Work has been checked for plagiarism, and its similarity index is within the limit set by the Journal ([__]% or less).
9. If generative AI tools were used in preparing the Work, their use has been disclosed, and the authors take full responsibility for the content. Generative AI tools have not been listed as authors.
10. All authors have read the final version of the Work and agree to its publication and to this agreement.

6. Indemnity

The author(s) shall be responsible for any claim arising from a breach of the above declarations and shall indemnify the Journal, its Editors, the School of Media Studies and Presidency University against any resulting third-party claim, loss or reasonable expense.

7. Editorial Rights

The Journal reserves the right to edit the Work for language, style, clarity and format, and to make minor corrections, without altering the meaning. The Journal may withdraw or retract the Work if it is found to violate publication ethics, and will inform the author(s) in such a case.

Any substantive change to the Work will be shown to the Corresponding Author for approval at the proof stage. Corrections, expressions of concern and retractions will follow the guidelines of the Committee on Publication Ethics (COPE), and the author(s) will be given an opportunity to respond before a Work is retracted, except where there is an urgent legal or ethical reason.

8. Copyright Notice for the Published Work

Under Option A, the following notice will appear on the published Work:

© [Year] MSDR Journal, School of Media Studies, Presidency University, Bengaluru. All rights reserved.

Under Option B, the notice will read: © [Year] The Author(s). Published by MSDR Journal, School of Media Studies, Presidency University, Bengaluru, under CC BY-NC 4.0.

9. General Provisions

Governing law. This agreement is governed by the laws of India, and the courts at Bengaluru shall have jurisdiction over any dispute arising from it.

Severability and entire agreement. If any provision of this agreement is held to be invalid, the remaining provisions will continue in force. This agreement is the entire agreement between the author(s) and the Journal about the Work.

Personal data. The author(s) consent to the Journal processing their personal data (such as names, affiliations, email addresses and ORCID iDs) for editorial, publication, indexing and archiving purposes, in line with applicable law.

10. Authorisation and Signature

The Corresponding Author signs on behalf of all co-authors, and confirms that every co-author has read this agreement and given written consent to it. Co-authors may also sign in Section 2, but this is optional. If the Work was prepared as part of employment, the employer's signature may also be needed.
