Testing arguments if the women's movement in India had an important role to play in questioning the way inherent inequality in human relationships needed to be unpacked in the disciplinary contours.

Addressing debate-Is gender about women? Is gender about men and women? Does gender de-radicalize the potential that was there in the category of women?

Checking progress-With the institutionalization of women/gender studies in India in the last decade, with NGOs and government policies responding to gender concerns in the last two decades what has been the transformations that have happened in the meaning and the understanding of gender.
